

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY
SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WELFARE

FACULTY POSITIONS

The School of Social Welfare invites applications for two faculty positions, each with a starting date of July 1, 2011. One opening is for an Assistant Professor with a focus on children's mental health (Search #1543). The second, open as to rank, will provide leadership in the area of mental health as it relates to race, ethnicity, or other vulnerable populations (Search #1544).

The successful candidates will have general expertise in the fields of social work and social welfare, a special interest in mental health, the ability to maintain an active research agenda, and an interest in teaching core courses in the masters program. A Ph.D. is required; preference will be given to those who also have an MSW. Those with previous teaching experience and evidence of research and publications are especially encouraged to apply.

The University of California is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer. The School of Social Welfare is interested in candidates who will contribute to diversity and equal opportunity in higher education through their teaching, research, and service, or those who have the communication skills and cross-cultural abilities to maximize effective collaboration with a diverse community of campus and external colleagues.

Candidates should submit the following: 1) a letter of interest; 2) a curriculum vitae; 3) three letters of reference (refer potential reviewers to the UC Berkeley Statement of Confidentiality found at: <http://apo.chance.berkeley.edu/evalltr.html>); and, 4) two writing samples to:
